DETROIT, Mich., April 6, 1833. The election returns coming in clearly indicate the defeat of the new constitution. It cannot yet be juged how the vote on prohibition has gone. Negro suffrage is embodied in the new constitution. The only separate articles submitted are prohibition the Legislature.

Complete returns for the city of Detroit give for the constitution 2,458 against 5,892, only one ward giving a majority for it; for prohibition 1,534 against 6,567, and for annual sessions 755 against 6,672.

At this hour (half-past ten P. M.) returns from eventy towns, including Detroit, show a majority of 8,156 against the constitution. The vote on prohibition outside Detroit, is about equal. It is thought returns from the rural districts will overcome the 5,000 majority given against the measure in Detroit. Dernoit, April 6-Midnight. Returns from one hundred towns give 10,653 votes against the constitution. Regarding the bureau of meteorology which it is suggested should be established in this city a correspondent offers the following suggestions:—

First—With regard to the stations they should be judiciously arranged, chosen with due regard to the natural features of the district over which it is proposed to extend investigation. The proper places would be at regular intervals along the coasts, giving due regard to their configuration, at regular intervals along the coasts, giving due regard to their configuration, at regular intervals along the coasts, giving due regard to their configuration, at regular intervals along the coasts, giving due regard to their configuration, at regular intervals along the coasts, giving due regard to their sand and mountain ranges. The plains are comparatively barren in meteorological phenomena; while unfortunately the lines of raliroad afford the best facilities for investigation on them, and confining investigation to them would soon render the subject stale and profitless.

Second—With regard to the instruments, each station should be supplied with an anomoter, a barometer, a thermometer, a hydrometer and a weather vane. Stations on important points should be supplied with additional instruments to meet their local requirements; for instance, at particular points of rivers the observers should be supplied with instruments to ascertain the rise, fall and velocity of the stream. This would be very important, as it would enable us to compare the relative amount of water precipitated on the basin to that discharged through the channel.

Third—With regard to transmission, it should be so systematized that very few characters would seem to represent all ordinary vicissitudes.

Pourth—With regard to the management of the principal office here in New York, I would suggest that a form be made of a map embracing the area over which the investigation is proposed to extend, and each station on this be made with a swivel type to the torust of the duals that he are selected on the spot with

BROOKLYN CITY

THE EAST RIVER BRIDGE.

The Subject Before the Brooklyn Common Council. The regular weekly meeting of the Brookiyn Common Council was held yesterday afternoon. The principal business transacted was the consideration of the minority report of the committee having under consideration the subject of loaning the city's credit to the amount of $3,000,000 towards constructing the proposed bridge across the East river. The following is an abstract of the minerity report:—

They submit as reasons for not agreeing to the re-proposed bridge across the East river. The following is an abstract of the minerity report:—

They submit as reasons for not agreeing to the report of the committee prescribed at the last meeting of the Board that in the first place the spanning of the river between the two eifes would not only have a material effect on the general prosperity of both, but would be of national importance and reflect knone on American skill and enterprise.

Secondly, the feasibility of the project with regard to its general features seems to be generally conceded; but a strong objection exists from the fact that the opinion of only one engineer has been obtained on the subject.

Thirdly, it had been assumed on insufficient grounds that the enterprise was wholly impracticable to individual or associated effort; but if it be feasible capitalists will not be slow to lend their aid. The general outline of the proposed plan appears to be this:—To obtain from the city its two or three millions subscription to the stock, the city to be represented in the company nominally, but not to vote upon its stock; the company then subscribe or procure subscriptions. For one or two millions more of stock, and the balance of the cost of the construction to be raised on bonds of the company. If three or four millions can be obtained by subscription? Capital must be satisfied that the project is feasible before it will trust the bonds of the company for security. The only way in which the city could obtain any control would be by acquiring the whole property at An advance of one-third of the cost of the condition. It is true that hopes of iliberal profits must be held out to induce capitalists to engage in such large enterprises; but the city ought not to be subjected to the proposed heavy burden for the purpose of retaining those profits in a few hands. Let the books of the company be opened for public subscription, and let subscriptions to the stock be solicited, not loans on bond. Fourthly, in view of the present heavy bonds of debt and taxes if wo

TWO MEN FOUND SUFFOCATED IN A VAT.

About six o'clock last evening two young men em ployed in the manufacture of ammonia at the chemi-cal works of Mitchell & Fall, 254 Marshal street, were found dead, one lying in a vat which contained the solution and the other close beside it. It appears from the position in which the deceased were discovered that one of the men, Leander Bolan, while at work must have become overpowered by the exhalations and fallen in the vat. The other, whose name is Robert Walker, while endeavoring to extricate Bolan, also became overpowered and expired. The bodies were discovered by Susan Langley, a servant girl, who entered the building for the purpose of summoning the deceased, who boarded in the house adjoining, to supper. She gave the alarm and several partics came in and extricated the bodies, but life was extinct. Bolan is twenty-two years of age and a native of Maine. Walker is eighteen years of age, Bolan was married, and his wife, who is only sixteen years of age, had just arrived from Maine to join her husband. Sergeant Craft, of the Forty-second precinct, assisted in the removal of the bodies of the unfortunate men, and notified the Coroner. These chemical works, it is said, have been reported to the Board of Health as a nuisance, as the stench occasioned by the manufacture of the ammonia was almost unbearable. The inquest will probably be held over the bodies to-day.

NEW YORK COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY.

This society held its monthly meeting last evening, at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, corner of Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue. Dr. Edmund R. Peaslee presided. The attendance was large and the interest manifested in the proceedings of more than ordinary nature. Dr. Stephen Rogers read a paper on "mortality," in which he adverted to the deaths in New York and Brooklyn for the first three months of 1867 as over five thousand, and that this number exceeded the same period of 1866 over four hundred. He held that the extension of a city or the scattering of its population did not necessarily diminish deaths. In the matter of mortality in the infant Hospital in this city, he reiterated the starting facts with which the public are acquainted. Among them he said that twenty per cent of the Among them he said that twenty per cent of the whole number of infants within the institution during last year having mothers, and seventy per cent without mothers, died; starvation, neglect and its kindred lils were the causes. He called upon the society to use their utmost endeavors to stay this deadly shaughter of the innocents as noted in public institutions.

The deaths of Dr. Isaac Wood, aged seventy-four, a member of the society since January 10, 1820; of Dr. James T. Gibert, a member since June 8, 1832, and of Dr. Hampton Harriott, aged forty-three, a member since November, 1863, were announced and resolutions of condoience passed.

The delegates to the meeting of the American Medical Society in Washington, during the month of May next, were announced, as follows:—Drs. E. R. Peasice, Nathan Bozeman, James Wooster, C. F.
